Johnston of Audrain County, who conducted the shipment of 17,000 yearling steers on the St. market Tuesday, stated that they were all late in his part of the year and some not very good. He said, would make only about a normal yield and wheat at so good. Oats, however, were an average. Mr. Johnston did not look for very much of stock throughout his part of the state this winter and predicted a large of all farm products in the future unless the farmer is given a deal. He said the demands for pay and shorter hours by workers were forcing higher for the necessities of the while in turn his (the farm- products) were being lowered. corn needs a late fall, ys, and frost not earlier than of October to mature the crop, which on the whole two weeks late. The late corn in all the eastern portion and other sections of the state will require a still longer time. Corn in southwest Missouri is most excel- lent, and good in western and north- western sections and a considerable of the central district, while it has im- proved greatly in the eastern portion where drouth prevailed almost con- tinuously from June 1st. Recent rains have helped in all sections. Late corn is making very rank growth, and will mature slowly. Farmers will cut 9 per cent of the corn acreage for silage and 29 per cent for fodder.

Wheat seeding has begun, and preparations are going forward under favorable conditions in practically all sections. Present indications are for a 30 per cent increase over the 2,580,000 acres seeded by Missouri farmers last fall, totaling 3,354,000 acres this fall. Increase in the acreage is predicted in nearly all sections, except where chinch bugs were bad. Plowing is well along.

Spring wheat is yielding 12 bushels per acre totaling 144,000 bushels. Oats 20.6 bushels per acre against 27 last year; quality fine. Total 43,756,000 bushels against 38,259,000 in 1919. The Considine-Pollock sale which was held Tuesday afternoon on their farm southwest of Auxvasse brought approximately $13,000. Altogether, 305 head of livestock was sold, there being twenty-five head of mules, thirty-nine head of cows, thirty-eight yearling heifers, one hundred hogs and eighty-eight head of sheep.

The highest price for ewes was $12, and for lambs $5.25 a head. These ewes went to R. A. Neill. The highest price paid for hogs was $40 for a sow and eight pigs. These were bought by L. T. Van Note. The price ranged from $20 to $41. Stock hogs brought from $7.10 to $17.25 a head. The highest priced cow sold was for $76, and went to Albert Smith. Cows brought from $35 to $75 a head. White faced heifers averaged $33 a head. The highest price for a pair of mules was $576. These were bought by Boyd Gooldy.

Wheat brought $2.50 a bushel; oats, 71 cents; cane, $10.25 an acre, and corn $19.50 an acre.

The auctioneers were Harrison Brothers, C. E. Burt, Jeff Woods, I. W. Holman, and O. B. Johnson. The clerk was J. C. Mundy.

Pearl Bell of the Concord bailiwick scattered down Mokane way one day last week and paid Emmitt Murphy $375 for a pair of mules. Then he went over to Mexico and sold a pair of 4-year-old horse mules to Lee Bros. at $450.—Auxvasse Review.

H. S. Hammonds is home from a motor trip to Lincoln county. He says the corn prospects there are fine and that more wheat ground is being broken than for years.

Home Bridgeford, out south of Santa Fe, tried using lime on his farm this year and says the results are decidedly good. He tells us that you can tell exactly where the lime application in his corn left off by the size and quality of the corn.—Paris Appeal.

Chemists Make Discoveries That Will Aid World

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—To the seven original wonders of the world, American chemist within the last year have added eight hundred others

The inventions, discoveries and new processes dug out of the bowels of the earth, the gases of the air, and the chemicals properties of the soil within the last twelve months are causing gasps of astonishment at the convention of the American Chemical Society, at which the efforts of fifteen thousand leading American experts are being unfolded.

Looking to the time when coal deposits may be exhausted, they are exhibiting liquid coal.

With the price of petroleum dis- tilled gasoline soaring, they are mak- ing public a new process of distilling this precious commodity from natural gas and cheaply.

A method of de-inking printed paper so that it can be used again is put forth as a future solution of the print paper problem.

There is a new anesthetic, contain- ing the pain killing qualities of mor- phine and other narcotics, but which leaves the patient with no longing for additional doses, thus eliminating, they say, much of the drug habit problem.

They have found a substitute for alcohol in making flavoring extracts solving a housewife problem and el- iminating another source of alcoholic exhilaration for the thirsty and reck- less.

And among many, many others, a practical use for the gases Uncle Sam manufactured to shoot at the Ger- mans. Oddly enough the uses of these gases will hit Germany anyhow, as the phosgene gases are being used to make blue and green dyes and for bleaching sand to make fine optical glass—both of which industries were formerly Germany's pre-eminently.

The range of the researches is from how to make chickens grow to un- usual size to methods of blowing down mountains with high explosives.

The new gasoline has been so per- fected that there are now companies in Pittsburg and Dil City, Pa., mak- ing it," said J. W. Harrington, a di- rector of the society. "Natural gas that comes from the wells is distilled to gasoline. Then there is the new liquid coal. It is made from coal dust, suspended in light oil. It gives out a terrific heat and is cheap. Now it is aimed at industrial needs, but the time will come when it will be used for household purposes."

SHE IS CONVINCED IT HAS NO EQUAL

"I am Overjoyed at What Tanlac Has Done For Me," Says Kansas City Woman.

"I am just overjoyed at what Tan- lac has done for me and I certainly am convinced it is the best medicine in the world," said Mrs. Erminia Gas- nera, of 2410 Boles Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

"During the past two years I have been trying and trying to get some- thing that would relieve me of my suffering, but everything failed until I got Tanlac," she continued. "I had indigestion so bad that nearly every bite I ate soured on my stomach and caused me to have such a heavy suffo- cating feeling in my chest that it cut my breath off. My head ached nearly all the time and I had a pain across my back that was almost more than I could bear if I stooped over. I suf- fered from constipation and was so nervous that the little sleep I man- aged to get was restless and broken. I felt worn out all during the day and was so weak I could hardly do my housework.

"It was no time after I began tak- ing Tanlac until my troubles started leaving me and I was sleeping better, and I knew by that I had at least found the right medicine. And now I am happy to say that Tanlac has built me up wonderfully and I am enjoying better health than I have in years. I don't have to worry over what I can eat now because every- thing agrees with me perfectly and I never have a touch of indigestion. I am free from constipation and head- aches and pains in my back have all left me; my nerves are so steady I sleep like a child and I am feeling so fine all the time that my house-work is a real pleasure. Nothing is too good for me to say of Tanlac."

TANLAC is sold in Mexico, Mo., by Marlow & Cox druggists, McCubbin & Garner druggists, Laddonia, Mo., and C. T. Peyton, Martinsburg, Mo.

BUDDIES MEET AFTER OTHERS THOUGHT DEAD

After saying goodbye in France, en- tering one of the warmest fights on the Western front, and returning home believing your buddies had been killed only to discover them on the streets of the old home town, months afterwards, was the experience of Marvin Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterl Carter, of this city Friday.

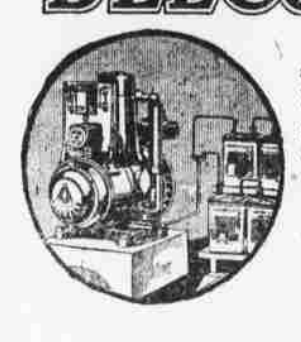

Mr. Carter and several other boys entered service at Camp Funston, shortly after the United States entered the World War, and they trained together and sailed overseas in the same company, Headquarters Co., of the 35th Inf. At the battle of St. Mihiel they became separated and three of these buddies returned think- ing Carter had been killed, and he came home believing thy head gone "west."

Friday they met on the street here and had a little re-union of their own. The three friends were from near Quincy and Shelby and were the guests of Mr. Carter for dinner Sat- urday. Mr. Carter says no one can appreciate the feeling that came over him as he saw them. "I don't know of anything I could have been hap- pier to see, than those boys," he said.
